BCI SECURITIES, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AS OF AND FOR THE YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2018

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Description of Business and Organization — Bci Securities, Inc. (the "Company"), was incorporated on July 6, 2011, in the State of Florida. The Company is owned by Banco de Credito e Inversiones, S.A. ("Bci Chile and/or the "Parent"), and Bci Asesoria Financiera S.A., both of which are Chilean companies. On May 16, 2014, the Company was granted Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA") membership as a registered broker dealer. The Company is registered in the states of California, District of Columbia, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Maryland, North Carolina, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and Puerto Rico. On July 31, 2014, the Company was granted an RIA license by the Florida Office of Financial Regulation. In November 2018, the Company closed the Branch office in Chile (see note 4).

The Company is authorized to buy and sell equities, mutual funds, corporate debt, U.S. Government Bonds, sovereign debt and put and call options for its customers primarily residing in South America, in an agency capacity and charge a commission. The Company may enter into networking arrangements with banks, savings banks or credit unions. In addition, these arrangements may include kiosks that allow the Company to provide Bci Securities products and services at registered offices within banking institutions.

Use of Estimates — The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the U.S. ("U.S. GAAP") requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Financial Instruments Owned — Proprietary securities transactions in regular-way trades are recorded on the Trade date, as if they had settled. Profit and loss arising from all securities and commodities transactions entered into for the account and risk of the Company are recorded on a trade date basis. Income and expenses related to customer's securities and commodities transactions are reported on a trade date basis.

Revenue Recognition — On January 1, 2018, the Company adopted ASC Topic 606 by applying the modified retrospective method. Results for reporting periods beginning after January 1, 2018 are presented under Topic 606.

The adoption of ASC Topic 606 did not have an impact on the recognition of our primary sources of revenue, which include commissions received from securities transactions on a trade date basis. The Company buys and sells securities on a riskless principal basis with customers and other dealers charging a markup which is recorded on a trade dated basis. In addition, distribution fees from mutual funds, variable annuities, and insurance products are accrued to recognize revenue when the Company satisfies performance obligations. Timing of recognition of substantially all of our remaining revenue was also not impacted, and we therefore did not record any cumulative effect adjustment to opening equity.

BCI SECURITIES, INC.

Commission, fees, and related clearing expenses are recorded on a trade-date basis. Fees, consisting principally of marketing and distribution fees, revenue participation with the Company's clearing broker in distribution fees, and interest are recorded as earned.

Asset management fees are earned typically on a quarterly basis in accordance with the terms of the client agreements.

Participation fees related to client sweep account investments are recorded in the month of service.

Income Taxes — The Company accounts for income taxes under the asset and liability method, which requires the recognition of deferred tax assets and liabilities for the expected future tax consequences of events that have been included in the financial statements. Under this method, deferred tax assets and liabilities are determined based on the differences between the financial statements and tax basis of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates in effect for the year in which the differences are expected to reverse. The effect of a change in tax rates on deferred tax assets and liabilities is recognized in income in the period that includes the enactment date.

The Company records net deferred tax assets to the extent the Company believes these assets will more likely than not be realized. In making such a determination, the Company considers all available positive and negative evidence, including future reversals of existing taxable temporary differences, projected future taxable income, tax-planning strategies, and results of recent operations. In the event the Company were to determine that it was more likely than not that the Company would be able to realize its deferred income tax assets in the future in excess of its net recorded amount, the Company would make an adjustment to the deferred tax asset valuation allowance, which would reduce the provision for income taxes.

As of December 31, 2018, the Company has a net operating loss deferred tax asset of $2,505,000 and has recorded a valuation allowance of $2,505,000 as management has determined on the weight of available evidence that it is more likely than not that the deferred tax asset will not be realized as of December 31, 2018. The Company is in a cumulative loss position with limited operating history of profitability and therefore a full valuation allowance is appropriate.

As of December 31, 2018, the Company has federal and state income tax net operating loss (NOL) carry-forwards of approximately $9,883,410, which will begin to expire in 2031.

BCI SECURITIES, INC.

The Company accounts for uncertainty in income taxes by recognizing in its financial statements the tax effects of a position only if it is more likely than not to be sustained based solely on its technical merits; otherwise, no benefits of the position are to be recognized. Moreover, the more-likely-than-not threshold must continue to be met in each reporting period to support continued recognition of a benefit. As of December 31, 2018, the Company has not recorded any unrecognized tax benefits in the accompanying statements of financial condition. Management does not expect that unrecognized tax benefits will increase within the next 12 months. In the event the Company were to recognize interest and penalties related to uncertain tax positions, they would be recognized in the financial statements as income tax expense.

Depreciation — Depreciation of property and equipment is computed using the straight-line method at various rates based upon the estimated useful lives of the assets. The Company's equipment is depreciated over 5 years, and furniture and fixtures are depreciated over 7 years.

Cash and Cash Equivalents — The Company has defined cash equivalents as those highly liquid financial instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less at the time of acquisition. The Company during the course of operations may maintain cash balances in excess of federally insured limits.

Prepaid Expenses — Prepaid expenses are amounts paid to secure the use of assets or the receipt of services at a future date or continuously over one or more future periods.

Equipment — Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Expenditures for major betterments and additions are capitalized to the asset accounts while replacements, maintenance, and repairs, which do not improve or extend the lives of the respective assets, are charged to expense currently.

BCI SECURITIES, INC.

2. FAIR VALUE

Fair Value Hierarchy — FASB ASC 820 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value, and establishes a hierarchy of fair value inputs. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. A fair value measurement assumes that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability occurs in the principal market for the asset or liability or, in the absence of a principal market, the most advantageous market. Valuation techniques that are consistent with the market, income or cost approach, as specified by FASB ASC 820, are used to measure fair value.

The fair value hierarchy prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value into three broad levels:

- Level 1. Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company can access at the measurement date.
- Level 2. Inputs other than quoted prices included within level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability either directly or indirectly.
- Level 3. Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability.

The availability of observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors, including, for example, the type of security, the liquidity of markets, and other characteristics particular to the security. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised in determining fair value is greatest for instruments categorized in level 3.

The inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement falls in its entirety is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety.

Fair value is a market-based measure considered from the perspective of a market participant rather than an entity-specific measure. Therefore, even when market assumptions are not readily available, the Company's own assumptions are set to reflect those that the Company believes market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date.

A description of the valuation techniques applied to the company's categories of assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis follows: U.S. Government Securities are valued using inputs other than quoted prices included within level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability either directly or indirectly. Accordingly, U.S. government securities are generally categorized in level 2 of the fair value hierarchy. The Company determined the valuation with inputs from the custodian (Pershing LLC) market value determination which is derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means (Level 2).
